

KENTUCKY COFFEETREE

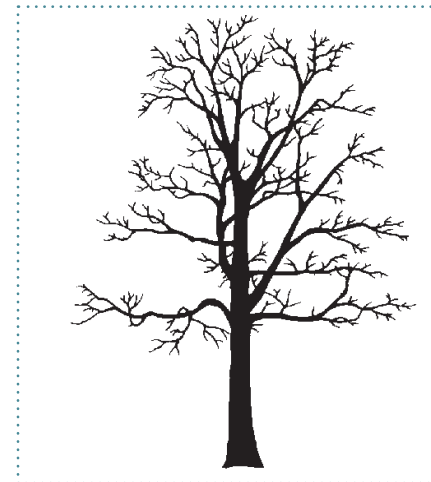

MATURE FORM

© 2016 Brenna Anstett / LEAF

JUST PLANTED

© 2015 Dan Hammerschlag / LEAF

FORM

HEIGHT 45 feet
WIDTH 35 feet

upright, oval to rounded crown with irregular branching

© 2015 Natural Resources Canada, Canadian Forest Service

LEAF

bi-pinnately compound, bright green above and paler green below, numerous ovate leaflets with smooth edges (makes tree appear fuller); emerge in late spring

FALL COLOUR

yellow

© 2016 David Slaughter / LEAF

© 2016 Brenna Anstett / LEAF

BARK

flaky, scaled, grey when young; furrowed, rough, dark grey with orange undertones when mature

© 2015 Brenna Anstett / LEAF

FLOWER

long, white, fragrant, non-showy, male and female clusters; emerge in late spring on separate trees

© 2001 Mark BRAND / UConn

FRUIT

large, green to purple, thick, flat pods containing round, dark brown, flat seeds embedded in a sticky pulp; mature in late summer and persist throughout the winter on female trees only

© 2015 Brenna Anstett / LEAF